Timothy Drake

TO THE MEMORY OF

TIMOTHY DRAKE

A STUDENT OF GENEALOGY

AND

SIDNEY DRAKE

HIS BROTHER

A MAKER AND LOVER OF BOOKS

INTRODUCTION

The making of a family genealogy usually begins in the laudable efforts of hunting out one's grandfather and grandmother on both sides. The discovery that these forebears had parents with strange and unfamiliar names, piques a natural curiosity and before one realizes it, the "bee is buzzing in the bonnet" and soon a strong start is made on the long and toilsome road,—who, what and where, were these "new people," who were born, lived and died lamented so long ago, but with whom, we, now are a living part. In most of us somewhere in our consciousness is stored away more or less of a Sherlock Holmes detective sense. We delight in solving picture, mathematical, cross-word and other puzzles. So here in tracing a family pedigree is the most absorbing puzzle of all; the compensation begins to appear immediately though the end is never reached and many of the riddles must always remain unsolved.

Mr. Timothy Drake was a well-known citizen of Hartford; rather tall and quite spare, of the "Brother Jonathan" type; the hair worn longer than prescribed by fashion; sober in manner and somewhat slow in speech, very neat, his clothes were of an earlier generation in style and cut. Honest and sincere but not effusive or a spendthrift of affection or money. A Connecticut Yankee from head to toe. He became deeply interested in his family like most New Englanders from the parent stock; he was proud, and sensitive to blood and kindred. His profession of civil engineer and land surveyor exercised in Hartford and the surrounding country, the searching of deeds, boundaries, wills, inventories and distributions, all led him in his business to a cognizance of many family relationships, and considerable local history. This fostered a natural bent and early he began to set down in his surveyor's note book or on any handy bit of paper, the names that interested him. On retiring from active life, he began to arrange these notes especially of the Drake name. He invited correspondence and conversation, but soon found there were many Drakes not of his brood. As he grew older this annoyed him, and I remember several occasions on which his nerves got the better of him and he spoke in no uncertain terms of those long gone as well as some living, who did not know or care what Drakes they were. He died leaving no immediate heirs. The bank which he made his executor found his papers in some disorder but carefully saved many of them; but I am certain that others disappeared. He had led me to suppose that his genealogy could be taken up and carried on to a reasonable completeness. In his will he left a sum of money for this purpose.

For many years he had been searching for a certain Esther Drake who married an ancestor of mine. Mr. Drake many times stopped me on the street or elsewhere, saying, "I am on Esther's trail," or "I am sure we shall soon have her for sure."* He urged me, therefore, to become one of the trustees of this genealogical fund. I demurred, not being a trained genealogist. Then Mr. Drake said, "You will not have to do the work. You will hire my old friend and neighbor, Mr. M., who has done genealogies and who has talked with me about my Drake genealogy. He knows what I want, but I want you and Mr. B. to consult with him and to look after the fund. There will be enough to pay you all." Unfortunately Mr. M. died shortly before Mr. Drake; Mr. B. declined to serve and for some years I did not qualify as trustee. The executor wished to settle the estate and urged me to undertake the work. The World War took the attention of most of us and not much was done. The actual compilation was turned over to an experienced genealogist, Miss Alice M. Gay, and her faithful, intelligent work has been carried on in the face of many discouragements. While the family is not as large as some others, of the name, it has been a peculiarly hard one to untangle and trace. The results are here. No consideration of profit has entered into this publication. It was thought best during the boom time and high prices, to delay the printing, but the time yielded new and valuable material. The scope of the work was in a measure fixed by the donor, but as he had talked with me of his probable English origin and ancestors and of his efforts while in

*Later investigation proved that Esther was born Mills and was a Widow Drake when my ancestor married her.

England to find them, it was felt that he would approve of further search there. While the results were somewhat largely negative, and are inferential, they were well worth the effort.

The earliest documents found relating to Timothy refer to a business venture entered into with his brother Sidney. They are contracts to publish a book in which it was agreed that they "share equally the cost of getting up the work and that all stereotype plates, maps, engravings and other appurtenances (sic) shall be (their) joint property." All expenses and profits were to be equally divided. This was signed 18 April, 1849.

The East and the then West had been deeply interested in the affairs of the Southwest and Mexico; the war with that country was now happily finished and the golden glamour of California was at its height. The time seemed propitious to the brothers for publishing a large work on that region.

On April 9th, Sidney had met in Baltimore and signed a contract with the Hon. Brantz Mayer, a well known and highly esteemed author, who had travelled widely and had been Secretary of Legation in Mexico. The compensation was to be $2,000.00 for a work of 700 pages. A later addition gave the author $1.50 per page, if the work exceeded that limit, which it did by 136 pages. The book was to be elaborately illustrated from drawings by Francis B. Mayer,* artist—nephew of the author, who was to furnish not to exceed 100 drawings for the sum of $375.00." Thus in 1850, "Mexico, Aztec, Spanish and republican, with notices of New Mexico and California" appeared in two octavo volumes with this imprint: "Hartford: S. Drake and Company. 1851." It was reissued in one volume in 1852 and 1853.

Timothy Drake lived on Main Street until Sidney's death when he removed to the latter's home, No. 6 Sumner Street, Hartford; about 1900, he built the house No. 758 Asylum Avenue, where he remained until his death, in 1910. He rests forever in a casket enclosed in a metal chest, near the south-west corner of Cedar Hill Cemetery, Hartford. For years he had been a consistent member of the "Connecticut State Spritualist Association, Inc." to which he gave liberally.

In closing, the genealogist and the subscriber venture the hope that the time and work put into this book will serve the purpose so deeply and kindly desired by the Donor. It is wished also that it be a monument to his memory.

PREFACE

It is a difficult task to express my grateful appreciation of the assistance that has been given to me in the preparation of the Drake Genealogy. I cannot mention by name, every one who has sent me family records, the librarians and their assistants, who have given me help, and the friendly genealogists whose advice has aided. Their help cannot be overestimated.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Louis Stoughton Drake, for his generosity in allowing me to use the records of the Drake family, gathered about forty years ago by his brother, the late Harrie Beekman Drake. Mr. Drake had reached many members of the family, who are no longer living, whose knowledge and remembrance of family records went back a generation before my work began. These records have added many names to the genealogy, and have helped to identify some of the Drakes in my own records, whom I had not been able to place.

To Mrs. Mary McFarren of Watervliet, N. Y., I am indebted for the very complete records of the descendants of Salmon Drake, of Stafford, Conn., and Cherry Valley, N. Y., to Mr. Louis Frank Drake for tracing the family of Roger Drake, in Corning and Leroy, N. Y., and to Miss Ella Marshall Harrall, for records of the Lemuel Drake descendants in South Carolina.

It was hoped that an examination of the English records might give some information about John Drake's immediate family before he came to America, and I was fortunate to have the assistance of Mrs. A. May Osler, of London, in this work. While all that we hoped to find was not realized, it has seemed of interest to print abstracts of the wills of some of John Drake's near of kin. These wills, like many of a later date, raise the question, why one member of a family is remembered, and another overlooked. Our answer in this case, is to seek refuge in imagination.

There are doubtless errors in this book, for them I ask your kindly criticism, hoping that to many the "Descendants of John Drake, of Windsor" will prove helpful and satisfactory.

ROBERT BROWNING

FIRST GENERATION

of Windsor, Connecticut

The will of Francis Drake of Esher, County Surrey, England, dated 1633, has this bequest: "And unto John Drake my Cozen William Drake's Sonne twenty pounde to be sent unto him into New England in Comodityes such as my Executor shall thinke fitt" (43 Seager). Mr. Henry Waters in his notes upon this will expresses the belief that this refers to John Drake of Windsor, Conn. Vivian in his "Visitations of Devon" makes the same assertion. With two such eminent authorities to support us we may trace the roots of the Drake family tree on English soil back to John of Ashe or even farther if our interest and time permit.

Just when John Drake arrived in New England, we do not know, but we find his name on a list of those to be made freemen Oct. 19, 1630 (Boston Record Commissioner's Report, Vol. 29, p. 133). For some reason his name does not appear upon any list made in Boston and of his activities during the next few years we know little. In 1637, John Drake's name appears among the forty-six purchasers of Taunton, but his sojourn there must have been very brief for in Matthew Grant's Record of the Church at Windsor, Conn., we find this entry, "Womin admited here—"ould wido Drake. feb. 23. 1639." Just why John Drake's wife (if it was she) should have been called an "ould wido" twenty years before she really became one, is difficult to understand. It is somewhat at variance with the record of her death Oct. 7, 1681, "hir 100 yer of age have liued a wido 22 y( )." This record also might tax one's credulity. We gain from Matthew Grant the fact that the Drakes were in Windsor early in the year 1639. John Drake was granted fourteen acres, an homelot with meadow adjoining from the plantation at Windsor, Conn., Jan. 26, 1640.

He purchased land which was Francis Styles' with "seler house," garden and fencings.

He purchased of Elias Parkman land over the Great River. He purchased of John Bissell land in the Great Meadow, six acres more or less.

Dec. 1645 John Drake was appointed to gather up knapsacks, etc., and deliver to Mr. Talcotte.

He was a member of the jury in the Particular Court June 1643 and for eight sessions after that.

Oct. 17, 1648. John Drake Complaines against John Bennett for saying he had "intised and drawne away" the affections of his daughter. (As there were four "complaints" against Bennett at that session of the Court it would seem that he was out of favor with his neighbors.)

John Drake married, probably in England, Elizabeth ———; she died at the home of her son Jacob, Oct. 7, 1681.

John Drake's death is described on the Town Records of Windsor, Conn.

"Aug. 17, 1659. John Drake Sen^{r} dyed accidentaly, as he was Driving a Cart, Loaded with corn, to carry from his house to his son Jacob's the Cattle being 2 oxen and his mare, in the high way against John Griffin's Something Scar'd the Cattle, and they Set a runing, and he Labouring to Stop them, by takeing hold on the mare, was thrown down on his face, and the Cart wheele went over him: brake one of his Legs and bruised his body, so that he was taken up Dead, being carried into his Daughters house had Life come again, but Dyed in a Short time and was buried on the 18th day of August '59."

The inventory of John Drake's estate was taken Sept. 14, 1659, the amount £324/13/00. In the settlement, Job Drake claimed pay for two journeys to Piscataway* and other indebtedness from his father.

*Mr. Orra E. Monnette, in his "First Settlers of ye Plantations of Piscataway, N. J.," gives the first date of settlement as 1664, from this it would seem that the above reference was to Piscataway, N. H.

4. Jacob Drake (John[1]), born probably in England; married at Windsor, Conn., April 12, 1649, Mary, daughter of John Bissell of Windsor; she died at Windsor Sept 11, 1689. Matthew Grant's record has this statement following the date of marriage "now 74. it is 25 yer and never had child his mother that lived with him a wido m( )ny y( ) hir husband Jacobs' father dyed agust 18 ( )."

Jacob Drake purchased Dec. 5, 1656, a dwelling house and home lot of Anthony Hawkins, bounded West by the Common Street. He purchased of John Bissell land East side of the Great River two parcels.

In 1653 Jacob Drake was appointed to "goo the bounds" with Hartford men, and again in 1654. He was a fence viewer north side of the river in 1655, Constable in 1656, List maker in 1660.

Jacob Drake served on the jury of the Particular Court Mar. 1659/60, Sept. 1662 and Dec. 1662. In 1676 he contributed £0/8/0 to the poor in other colonies. He received ten shillings for making a pair of stocks. Sargt. Jacob Drake died Aug. 6, 1689. (The sickness that caused so many deaths in Windsor in 1689 carried off the three Drake brothers, the wives of two of them and one brother-in-law. A.M.G.) Jacob Drake's Will was proved, Nov. 11, 1689 The inventory was £223/02/02.

7. John Drake (John[2], John[1]), born in Windsor, Conn., Sept. 14, 1649; married in Windsor, Mar. 20, 1671, Mary, daughter of Robert and Mary (Rockwell) Watson, born Jan. 11, 1651. John Drake had a grant of land at Hop Meadow, Simsbury, in 1667. Just when John Drake, Jr., took up his residence upon it we do not know, but the Committee empowered to lay out the land in Massaco (Simsbury) voted in 1668 that if the "oweners" of lots were not resident upon them by September next, the lots would be forfeited. (Barber's History of Simsbury, p. 36). John Drake's barn was near the site of the present Congregational Church and his name was given to a small stream known as Drake's Brook and to a hill.

John Drake died July 7, 1689, leaving an estate valued at £393/15/00. Administration on the estate granted Nov. 11, 1689, to Mary Drake, the widow. In 1709 John Drake, aged about 19, residing in Danbury, Conn., chose Deacon Job Drake of Windsor for his guardian.

Mary, the widow of John Drake, died at Simsbury, Conn., Aug. 7, 1693. Her three children survived her.

Children of John and Mary (Watson) Drake, born in Simsbury, Conn.:

25. Mary, b. May 21, 1674.
26. Hannah, aged 11 in 1689.
27. John, b. Aug. 12, 1688.

John Drake was buried in the old burying ground at Simsbury; his tombstone is still standing. It gives the year of death as 1688, a year earlier than the Town records. The probating of the estate in 1689 would agree with the Town Records.

8. Job Drake (John[2], John[1]), born at Windsor, Conn., June 15, 1651. He married at Windsor, Mar. 20, 1671, Elizabeth Alvord, born Sept. 21, 1651, daughter of Benedict and Jane (Newton) Alvord.

Job Drake lived on the east side of the "Great River," as the Connecticut River is usually called in the old records, and was the first Deacon of the Church in East Windsor. He owned several tracts of land, and in 1711 received a grant east side of the sheep commons in exchange for land which he gave for a burying ground.

In 1686 his ratable list was "one person, house land 4 acres, East ye river twelve acs 1 horse 2 oxen 3 cows 1 of 2 y: 1 of 1 y: valued at £66/00.

Deacon Job Drake died Apr. 19, 1733.

Children of Job and Elizabeth (Alvord) Drake, born in Windsor, Conn.

28. Jonathan, b. Jan. 4, 1672.
29. Elizabeth, b. Nov. 2, 1675.
    Josiah, b. ——; d. Jan. 23, 1681.
30. Jeremiah, b. Sept. 11, 1684.
31. Rebeckah, b. Jan. 16, 1689; d. East Windsor, Sept. 29, 1789, unm.

The will of Job Drake, dated Mar. 14, 1732, mentions wife Elizabeth, Son Jeremiah Drake, to whom he gave the lot "where I now live which I had of my father," daughters, Elizabeth and Rebeckah, grand-daughter, Eunice Drake, and grand-son, Jonathan Drake. He bequeathed his interest in the Western Lands to his three children, and grand-dau. Eunice Drake. He appointed his son, Jeremiah Drake, and his son, Joseph Rockwell, Executors.

9. Hannah Drake (John[2], John[1]), born in Windsor, Conn., Aug. 8, 1653; married at Windsor, Nov. 9, 1671, John Higley. They remained in Windsor for a number of years, then removed to Simsbury, Conn., where Capt. John Higley, as he was called, became one of the prominent men of the town. He was Deputy to the General Assembly many times, was Justice of the Peace, and his name appears on the records as performing many marriages. He was active in developing the copper mines, altho' to a later Higley we owe the association with the Higley coppers.

Mrs. Hannah Higley died at Simsbury, Aug. 4, 1694. Capt. John Higley married Sarah, widow of Joseph Bissell, and daughter of Lt. Return Strong, who survived him. Capt. John Higley died at Simsbury, Aug. 25, 1714, aged 66. He is buried in the old cemetery at Simsbury center.

Children of John and Hannah (Drake) Higley:

I. John, b. Aug. 16, 1673.
II. Jonathan, b. Feb. 16, 1675; m. Dec. 4, 1701, Ann, dau. of Lt. Thomas Barber.

VII. Hannah, b. Apr. 22, 1683; m. Aug. 31, 1704, Joseph, son of Joseph Trumbull of Suffield, Conn. Her son Jonathan Trumbull was the War Governor of the Revolution, known as "Brother Jonathan."
VIII. Joseph, b. ——, 1685.*
IX. Samuel, b. abt. 1687.*
X. Mindwell, b. ——; m. 1st, Jonathan Hutchinson of Lebanon, Conn.; 2d, James Tisdale; 3d, Capt. Nathaniel Fitch. One of her sons, Isaac Fitch, was the architect recommended by Gov. Jonathan Trumbull as "The best Architect within the compass of my acquaintance."

10. Enoch Drake (John[2], John[1]), born in Windsor, Conn., Dec. 8, 1655; married at Windsor, Nov. 11, 1680, Sarah, daughter of John Porter, Senior. She was born Sept. 5, 1655. (This does not quite agree with Matthew Grant's statement when he recorded the marriage "both 25 yere ould, Sara 5 of last Juen enoch ye 8 of nixt month.") Enoch Drake died at Windsor, Aug. 21, 1698. His inventory amounted to £372/05/00. Lieut. Josiah Barber married the widow Sarah Drake, Nov. 5, 1701. He had married first,

*Bible Record.

Nov. 22, 1677, Abigail, daughter of Nathaniel Loomis. She died, leaving him a family of six children, five of whom were mentioned in his will, Nathaniel, Jonathan, Aaron, Abigail and Rebecca, and two grand-children, Elizabeth and Hannah Drake. Josiah Barber was a wheel wright. His will states that he had none of the property that his wife Sarah had from her former husband, "For she disposed of the same unbeknown to me," but he gave her "a feather-bed, a mare and a cowe to be her own forever and one year's provisions," besides a fair share of his estate. His will was proved Jan. 6, 1729/30. The estate of Sarah, widow of Josiah Barber, was probated Jan. 4, 1730/31.

12. Simon Drake (John[2], John[1]), born in Windsor, Conn., Oct. 28, 1659; married at Windsor, Dec. 15, 1687, Hannah, daughter of Simon and Mary (Buel) Mills. At the time of the probating of Simon Mills' estate 1683 his daughter Hannah was said to be 18 years old. At the distribution 1691, Simon Drake, husband of Hannah, signed.

Simon Drake's home lot was between Lieut. Job Drake's and Jeremiah Alvord's in Windsor near the present center of the town. He received by the will of his father, his house, home lot, a barn and a woodlot upon the Mill Brook. He sold a part to Jeremiah Alvord retaining 4½ acres with the buildings. He mortgaged this to Alexander Allyn and the boundaries were "my house and home lot on the south side the river lot bounded North on the highway that leads towards Greenfield, West on Jeremiah Alford's homelot, East on Job Drake's home lot," July 29, 1700. (Windsor Land Records, Vol. 2, p. 392). This mortgage was released to Hannah Loomis May 5, 1721, as Administratrix on Simon Drake's estate. Lieut. Job Drake and Simon Drake had a controversy about the line dividing their lots and settled by each agreeing to pay the other ten pounds.

Simon Drake died at Windsor, Dec. 21, 1711. His widow, Hannah Drake, was married, Nov. 24, 1715, to Daniel Loomis, Senior, who died 1740.

17. Joseph Drake (John[2], John[1]), born June 26, 1674, at Windsor, Conn.; married Ann, daughter of William and Mary (Burnham) Morton. She died Aug. 28, 1717, aged about 38. Joseph Drake married, (2) Sarah, widow of John Stoughton, who died about 1712. In 1731 Sarah Drake, wife of Joseph, formerly widow of John Stoughton, was cited to appear in Court. She had applied to have her dower as Stoughton's widow set to her. She died Jan. 7, 1746. John Stoughton married Jan. 23, 1689, Sarah Fitch.

The distribution of William Morton, Sen., of Windsor, Mar. 2, 1712-13, mentions Ann Drake, wife of Joseph Drake. The will of Mary Morton, widow, of Windsor, dated Jan. 18, 1719-20, mentions the lands of "my honored father Thomas Burnham, deceased," and bequeaths one shilling to each of the children of "my daughter Ann Drake."

The will of Joseph Drake of Windsor, dated Mar. 4, 1746/7 (he died Jan. 14, 1754), gave his home lot to his two sons, Thomas and David, to his son Joseph's heirs, 20 pounds, to sons, William and Abel, each 80 pounds, to son John, five shillings. These are the only children mentioned. He was buried in East Windsor.

He had a grant of land in Westfield, Mass., but returned to Windsor soon after the birth of his son Israel. He died Oct. 23, 1678, at Windsor. Andrew Hillyer of Simsbury, born in Windsor, Nov. 4, 1646, son of John Hillyer, married as his second wife, Nov. 17, 1687, Abigail (Drake) Dewey. (This is recorded at Simsbury.) Andrew Hillyer died at Simsbury, Jan. 22, 1697/8. His will, dated Feb. 16, 1692, leaves everything to his daughter Hannah, aged 17 yrs., whom he calls his only living child. Andrew Hillyer made her his Executrix. His first wife, the mother of Hannah, was Hannah daughter of Benjamin Burr.

Job Drake's will, dated Sept. 14, 1689, mentions daughter Abigail and grand-children Israel Dewey and Joseph Dewey.

Children of Israel and Abigail (Drake) Dewey:

I. Hannah, b. ——.
II. Israel, b. Dec. 3, 1673, at Westfield, Mass.
III. David, b. Jan. 11, 1676, at Windsor.

20. Job Drake (Job[2], John[1]), born in Windsor, Conn., Mar. 28, 1652. He married, Sept. 13, 1677 at Windsor, Elizabeth, widow of Moses Cooke.

Nov. 25, 1669, Moses Cooke, of Warronock (Westfield, Mass.), and Elizabeth Clark of Windsor, were married. She was the daughter of Daniel Clark, Secretary of the Colony, and his wife Mary Newberry.

Job Drake was appointed Lieutenant of a Company south side of the riverett, May 1701. Lieut. Job Drake to receive £1/14/8 for supplies furnished the soldiers Aug. 1711. (Conn. Colonial Records).

Job Drake died Nov. 9, 1711. The inventory of his estate amounted to £541/05/03. An agreement for the settlement of the estate was signed Oct. 27, 1712, by Elizabeth Drake, the relict, Jacob Drake, John Porter and Mary his wife, Roger Wolcott and Sarah his wife, being the children and only surviving heirs of Lieut. Job Drake. By this agreement Elizabeth the relict was to have Diego the negro servant, the great brass kettle, featherbed, bolsters, pillows, and other household things during her natural life. Job Drake, Jr., died Oct. 15, 1712. His will dated Oct. 14, 1712, gave to his mother the use of the new house and lands, which was "my grand-father Job Drake's and set to me in the division of my father Drake's estate." He mentions his brother Jacob Drake, and his son Jacob, who was to have land that was "my grandfather

Clark's." He left to his sister Mary's daughter Mary five pounds, in case of her death before she was eighteen to go to her sister Katherine. He left the same amount to his sister Sarah's daughter Katherine, or in case of her death to her brother Alexander. Mar. 10, 1702, Lt. Job Drake, Lt. Samuel Cross and Thomas Marshall were given liberty to set up a grist mill on the stream of "ye mill brook."

FOURTH GENERATION

FOURTH GENERATION

25. Mary Drake (John[3], John[2], John[1]), born May 21, 1674, in Simsbury, Conn. She married Seth Shove, "Teacher of the Work of God." He was the son of Rev. George and Hopestill (Newman) Shove, of Taunton, Mass., where he was born Dec. 10, 1667. He was graduated at Harvard in 1687.

Jan. 25, 1691* the town of Simsbury, Conn., voted to settle Mr. Seth Shove in the Church at that town. Mr. Shove expressed himself as willing to spend his days with them, but for some reason he was never installed there. In 1695, he removed to Danbury, Conn., was ordained there the following year and remained with the Church in Danbury until his death Oct. 3, 1735. May 1, 1699, Seth Shove, of Danbury, Conn., deeded land in Simsbury to Thomas Barber, Jr. The deed had this proviso, "In case my wife's brother, John Drake, redeem the land when he comes of age, 21 years, the deed is void". Apr. 18, 1711, John Drake disclaimed interest. Probably Mary (Drake) Shove's sister Hannah, and her brother John, accompanied her to Danbury. Hannah married there but John returned to Simsbury. Rev. Seth Shove married 2d, Abigail, daughter of Francis and Hannah (Seymour) Bushnell of Norwalk, Conn. Francis Bushnell's inventory was taken Oct., 1697. Abigail, then under 18, chose John Taylor as her guardian. From this it seems safe to consider the child baptised Nov., 1696, as the daughter of the first wife. The widow Abigail and Seth Shove were appointed Administrators on the estate of Rev. Seth Shove. In the distribution, Mary Minor, Hannah Starr and Lydia Bouton are mentioned. There were probably other children. The loss of the early records at Danbury leaves many problems unsettled.

Children of Rev. Seth and Mary (Drake) Shove:

I. Dorothy, b. Mar. 1, 1694/5, Simsbury, Conn., d. May 18, 1695.

VII. Rebecca, b. ——; m. —— Peak before 1746.
VIII. Eunice, b. ——; m. —— Morris before 1746.
IX. Deborah, b.——.

27. John Drake (John[3], John[2], John[1]), born Aug. 12, 1688, in Simsbury, Conn.; married, Apr. 20, 1721, Mary Case, born Nov. 15, 1697, daughter of Samuel Case. John Drake died at Simsbury, Feb. 8, 1724/5.

"Feb. 28, 1719, the Town order and agree that John Drake shall make coffins four our Towns people" (Phelps' History of Simsbury, p. 167).

Mar. 2, 1724/5, the Court appointed Mary Drake guardian to Mary Drake, a minor, three years of age, only child of John Drake deceased.

Mary (Case) Drake married for her second husband, Josiah

Alvord, by whom she had six children. Josiah Alvord died at Simsbury in 1768. The Parish of Turkey Hills, now the town of East Granby, Conn., became the home of Mary (Case, Drake) Alvord, and she died there Nov. 12, 1781. Her son, Josiah Alvord, with whom she made her home, was for many years a Deacon in the Church. He died Feb. 22, 1808, aged 82.

Children of John and Mary (Case) Drake, born in Simsbury:

56. Mary, b. Feb. 4, 1722.
Hannah, b. Feb. 8, 1723/4; d. October, 1724.

In a petition May, 1723, for a township in the Western Lands north of Farmington, west of a north line from Farmington's northwest corner of seven square miles, the name of John Drake appears among the signers. Mention is make of the copper works which brought about 10,000 pounds into the Colony. This was likely to create a foreign trade to the advantage of the Colony.

(Vol. IV 103a "Towns and Lands" State Library, Hartford.)

28. Jonathan Drake (Job[3], John[2], John[1]), born Jan. 4, 1672, in Windsor, Conn. He married, Apr. 14, 1708, Esther Bissell, born Sept. 10, 1679, daughter of Thomas and Esther (Strong) Bissell.

The inventory of Jonathan Drake's estate, £153/16/02, was taken July 2, 1716. His widow, Esther Drake, married Aug. 21, 1718, Deacon Joseph Skinner. She died Dec. 25, 1755. Dea. Joseph Skinner died Jan. 19, 1756. His will bequeathed to his wife, "*Hester", all the personal property, "I received with her on our marriage." He mentions sons Joseph, Daniel, Abijah, Azariah and John Skinner, and four daughters, Mary, Hannah, Ann and Elizabeth. Azariah Skinner had a son, Roswell, who married Mary Gay. Their daughter Lydia married Walter Thrall, the grand-father of Frank B. Gay, whose interest in the Drake family is noted in the preface.

63. Job Drake (Jeremiah[4], Job[3], John[2], John[1]), born 1725, in Windsor, Conn.; died Oct. 30, 1756. Called Job Drake, 3rd. Administration of his estate granted Dec. 6, 1756, to Jonathan Drake. The Distribution, on Dec. 7, 1757, to Jonathan Drake, Gideon Drake, Hannah, wife of Ebenezer Bissell, Elizabeth Drake, Ann Prior, wife of John, and Amy Drake, brothers and sisters of the deceased. The administration account mentions expense of sickness at Albany, and receipt from pay table.

Job Drake served in the 5th Company under Capt. Benjamin Allen, 3rd Conn. Regiment under Col. Nathan Whiting, in the French and Indian War, campaign of 1756. (Collections of the Conn. Hist. Soc., Vol. 9, p. 134.)

65. Gideon Drake (Jeremiah[4], Job[3], John[2], John[1]), born Aug. 31, 1729, in Windsor, Conn.; married Abigail, daughter of James Rockwell, of Windsor.

Gideon was a trader, and died Aug. 20, 1771. His estate became involved in several law suits with Harrison Gray of Boston, who claimed two pieces of real estate by virtue of a mortgage. Gideon Drake's heirs claimed that he had shipped beef to Gray to pay the note, when he was taken ill and died. During the War of the Revolution, Harrison Gray went to England and stayed until his death, Nov. 30, 1794. His Executor appealed to the Superior Court to summon Abigail Webb, alias Drake, surviving Administratrix, Dorson Drake, of Windsor, Jared Drake, Gideon

Drake, 2d, and Hannah Drake, of East Windsor and Taylor Chapman and Roxanna his wife, of Windsor, all children of Gideon Drake, deceased. The summons was dated Jan. 1796. Petition defaulted.

The case came up again Sept. 1804, when Dorson Drake went to Boston to treat with Harrison Gray Otis.

Gideon Drake enlisted* April 8, 1756, in the same Company with his brother Job. Returned Oct. 17, 1756.

224. Jacob Drake (Jacob[5], Jacob[4], Job[3], Job[2], John[1]), born in Windsor, Conn., Mar. 23, 1732/3; married in Wintonbury Parish, April 12, 1764, Rhoda Drake. They moved to Columbia County, N. Y., and in 1790, Jacob Drake was the head of a family of nine persons in Hillsdale. Rhoda Drake died about 1775. Jacob Drake, while in New York State, was a minister of the "New Lights" denomination, but later became an Elder in the Baptist Church. He travelled along the Hudson River making accessions to his church which soon numbered between five and six hundred. He settled in Exeter Pa., about 1792, and organized the first Baptist Church in Northern Pennsylvania, west of the Susquehanna River. He was in failing health after the year 1800, and finally became blind. He died Nov. 4, 1806, the "Dimock Diary" says in Dallas.

Children of Jacob and Rhoda (Drake) Drake, the first two born in Windsor:

ADONIS, b. May 12, 1765; probably m. Benjamin Newberry.

JACOB, b. Jan. 20, 1768; probably d. young.

JACOB, b. Jan., 1773, in Columbia Co., N. Y.; m. 1797, Nancy Keeler of Susquehanna, Pa. She d. Oct. 25, 1857, in her 83d yr. Jacob Drake followed the work of his father as a Baptist minister, and was ordained in 1803. He moved to Ohio about 1807, and was instrumental in organizing several churches in Franklin and Delaware Counties. It was said at the time of his death that he had baptized in more of the different streams in Ohio, than any man then living. In 1814, he built the Court House in Delaware, O., and in 1819, in company with Rev. Mr. Hughes, Presbyterian, he commenced the publication of the Delaware Gazette, the first newspaper in Delaware Co. In 1922, Mr. Elmer Widgton, whose father was a nephew of Rev. Jacob Drake, and whom he remembered well as "Uncle Drake," was able to recall several stories about him. He said that Uncle Drake built the house where he lived on Washington St., corner of Liberty, Delaware, O., and that "Aunt Nancy" carried the bricks in her apron. He referred to Mr. Orton Lea, son of Thomas Lea, whose mother was Nancy Drake Lea, as having given him a sketch of the Drake family, but it could not be found. Jacob Drake died in Delaware, O., Oct. 5, 1854, aged 82 yrs. He and his wife Nancy were buried in the Old Cemetery on the College Campus, but were removed later to Oak Grove Cemetery. Jacob Drake's will was signed July 4, 1854, and witnessed by Frank Hays, Allen Darrow, and Sarah Darrow. He gave to his wife, Nancy, the use of his estate, which at her death was to be divided among several organizations under the direction of the Baptists. There were no children, but Jacob Drake was affectionately known to many as "Uncle Drake."

225. Aaron Drake (Jacob[5], Jacob[4], Job[3], Job[2], John[1]), born Aug. 30, 1735, in Windsor, Conn.; died July 27, 1825; married July 21, 1757, at Windsor, Chloe (or Chlotilde) Gillett, born Oct. 4, 1735; died March 21, 1813, daughter of Abel and Abigail (Ensign) Gillett. Between 1760 and 1762, Aaron Drake moved to Simsbury, Conn., and in 1773, Sept. 24, he signed a deed and gave his residence as "living on Mountain Grant, west of Pittsfield, in Berkshire County, Mass." He became a minister of the Baptist denomination and was located in Hillsdale and New Lebanon, N. Y.

The Noble Genealogy (p. 409) states that Aaron Drake preached when over eighty years old, and about that time rode one hundred and fifty miles to Tully, N. Y., to see his daughter (Lucinda).

Children of Aaron and Chloe (Gillett) Drake:

436. Chloe, b. May 17, 1758, in Windsor, Conn.; m. Thaddeus Patchen; bapt. Sept. 13, 1752, in Wilton, Conn., son of Thaddeus and Sarah (Stuart) Patchen. In March, 1783, he sold the lot "where my dwelling house stands" to John Drake, and in September of the same year, his interest in land with two dwelling houses. Just when he moved to Canaan, N. Y., we do not know, but the family seems to have kept more in touch with the Windsor people than many who went from there. Two of the daughters were married in Windsor, and one lived for some time in Manchester. Job Drake's land at Canaan was divided among his heirs, Nov. 9, 1825. Hepsibah's land set to her as dower at Canaan was sold by her heirs in 1835.

Children of Job and Hepsibah (Wallace) Drake:

*Feb. 10, 1794, Benjamin Newberry of Exeter, Luzerne Co., Pa., sold to Jacob Drake and Jacob Drake, Jr., land partly in Exeter and partly in Northmoreland, Pa. The papers in the settlement of Benjamin Newberry's estate show that he died in 1811, that his estate was settled by his widow, Adonis Newberry. Jacob Drake, and his wife Nancy, deed all claim to the property, which might indicate that Adonis Newberry was a sister of Jacob Drake, Jr., as he had a sister of that unusual name.

328. Darius Drake (Shubael[6], Nathaniel[5], Nathaniel[4], Enoch[3], John[2], John[1]), born Oct. 1, 1802, in East Windsor, Conn.

At the age of fourteen he went to Manchester, Conn., where he served seven years apprenticeship as a paper maker with the John Butler Co.; married Aug. 15, 1825, Harriet Tinker Allen, born in Hebron, Conn. For fifty years he worked at the Butler Company's manufactory as a paper maker. His two children were born in Manchester.

Mr. Drake was a life long Democrat and a constant reader of the "Hartford Times." He cast his first vote for Andrew Jackson.

Darius Drake, at the age of seventeen became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was devoted to its service, serving for twenty-five years as Class Leader.

Darius Drake's one-hundredth birthday was celebrated in the town of Hebron, Conn. He was a real Son of the Revolution; and related to a newspaper correspondent an incident told him by his father and his Uncle Simeon Drake, of the Battle at Bunker Hill:

"Half clad, poorly fed, the hungry men watched, with longing eyes, a load of provisions jostling along. British bullets were flying, but as young West, a brother-in-law of Captain Simeon, saw a pot of beans falling from the load, he leaped forward, snatched at the coveted bean pot, and held it fast. As he did so a bullet grazed his cheek, but to quote his own words, he 'stuck to the pot of beans'. Never, perhaps, did a mess of Boston baked beans meet with a more enthusiastic reception."

Darius Drake died in Hebron, Conn., Sept. 21, 1906, having nearly completed one hundred four years. Harriet Tinker Allen, wife of Darius Drake, died Aug. 23, 1868, aged 68. They are buried in Buckland, Conn.

She died Jan. 6, 1872. Henry Drake, usually called, "Captain Drake" died Nov. 16, 1874. They were buried in the old cemetery at Windsor.

Henry Drake left an estate valued at about $14,000. During his last illness, he sent for Mr. H. Sidney Hayden, to draw up his will, In the disposition of his property, he left $10,000 to Grace Episcopal Church, Windsor, of which he had been for many years a Vestryman. The brothers and sister of Henry Drake felt that he was either unduly influenced to make such a bequest or that his mind was affected by his sickness. The case was taken to the Superior Court, which sustained the will. In the course of the testimony, it was stated that Mr. Drake was a man of very few words, that he did not often see his brothers, although they were not widely separated and that he seldom went to Church. About twenty witnesses were called and the case attracted much attention.

Child of Henry and Chloe B. (Loomis) Drake:

388. WILLIAM DRAKE (David[6], Lemuel[5], Joseph[4], Joseph[3], John[2], John[1]), born in Windsor, Conn., Sept. 4, 1808; married Jan. 1, 1844, Catherine, widow of George Robert Colt, of Lyme, Conn., daughter of David and Mary (Polly Peck) Caulkins, of Lyme. George Robert Colt married Catherine Caulkins, Nov. 17, 1831, he died Mar. 29, 1841, aged 36. There were two children, both of them died young.

William Drake was engaged in the grocery business on Main Street, Hartford, Conn., for nearly half a century. His affairs became involved to some extent, and he went into insolvency in 1876. In Dec., 1865, his wife, Catherine Drake, divorced him, and took the name of Catherine Colt. She continued to live in Hartford until her death, Oct. 20, 1886, at the age of 71. William Drake died in Hartford, Dec. 14, 1888.

The will of Catherine Colt dated Oct. 24, 1885, mentioned her sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Taylor, of Ravenna, O.; nephew, Bronson Taylor, of Ravenna; her half-sister, Mrs. Delia Huntley, of Lyme, Conn., and niece, Louisa Huntley, of Lyme.

389. SIDNEY DRAKE (David[6], Lemuel[5], Joseph[4], Joseph[3], John[2], John[1]), born in Windsor, Conn., May 8, 1811, and was educated in the public schools of that town. He came to Hartford, Conn., when he was about sixteen years old, entering the employ of D. F. Robinson & Co., bookbinders, as an apprentice. In 1841, he became a partner in the business with Seymour Brown, and with several changes of partners, he carried on the business for more than fifty years. His last partner was John Parsons, upon whose death, Mr. Drake retired from active business.

The firm "Drake & Parsons" was well known, and in the palmy days of that business in Hartford, bound millions of books for local printing houses and millions more for printers in every part of the country. Mr. Drake was himself an expert binder, and the firm was known from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The policy of the firm being always to turn out the best possible work.

It was through Mr. Drake's judgment and business instinct, that Walter S. Williams, in connection with Drake & Parsons, purchased an interest in the publishing house of Hurlbut & Kellogg, the firm name changing to Hurlbut, Williams & Co. This was in 1861, and the war breaking out the two firms did a large business and made much money.

In 1862, they published the first volume of Hadley's "History of the Rebellion," the sale of which in a short time ran up to 150,000. This success gave an impulse to the printing trade in Hartford, and brought a great amount of business to the printing and book-binding houses in which the firm was interested. The firm of Hurlbut, Williams & Co., did a successful business until 1865, when it was organized as a joint stock company, under the name of the American Publishing Co. Mr. Drake was always a director in this company and was influential in its early history and prosperity.

In politics, Mr. Drake was a Republican and was one of the founders of the party when it grew out of the abolition movement. He was always proud of that fact. In religious faith he was a Congregationalist, and a member of the Park Church, of which Dr. Horace Bushnell was minister. In his latest years he attended the Asylum Hill Congregational Church, at that time under the leadership of Rev. Joseph H. Twitchell.

In the summer of 1872, Mr. Drake made a trip to Europe, his impressions were carefully noted in his diary, often with comparisons to places and customs in his own country. In Zurich, he had his first view of the Alps, which he said, "seemed like a vision of the blessed land of Beulah as described in Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress," and then adds, "Doubtless a near view will dispel this illusion and reveal them as anything but the land of the Blessed."

Aug. 11, 1842, Sidney Drake married Catherine Brown, born July 25, 1809, daughter of Joseph and Catherine (Seymour) Brown, and niece of David F. Robinson. For many years they resided on Sumner Street, Hartford, where Mrs. Drake died May 4, 1889, at the age of 80 years. Sidney Drake died Feb. 13, 1898. They are buried in Cedar Hill Cemetery, Hartford. There were no children.

391. Julia E. Drake (David[6], Lemuel[5], Joseph[4], Joseph[3], John[2], John[1]), born in Windsor, Conn., Mar. 25, 1817; married Sept. 30, 1840, Warren Rowley, born Feb. 6, 1818, in Smithville, Chenango County, N. Y., son of Job and Ruth (Hale) Rowley of Bloomfield, Conn. While Warren Rowley was a small child, his parents moved to Hartford, Conn., and he received his education in the public schools of that town.

He began business in the grocery of J. G. Eggleston, where he was clerk for seven years and partner for six. He then opened a grocery store at the corner of Main and Trumbull Streets. This business he sold after seven years. In 1856, he was appointed Town Agent and in 1876, he became Superintendent of Spring Grove Cemetery, Hartford.

In 1850, Warren Rowley purchased the house at 41 Windsor Avenue, corner of Belden Street, where he lived until his death, March 3, 1908. He was a member of St. John's Lodge, No. 4. A. F. & A. M. and of Pythagoras Chapter, No. 17, R.A.M. (Hartford Courant, March 4, 1908.)

Mrs. Julia Drake Rowley died, after a short illness, Nov. 1, 1891, at the age of 74 years and 7 months.

392. TIMOTHY DRAKE (David[6], Lemuel[5], Joseph[4], Joseph[3], John[2], John[1]), born in Windsor, Conn., March 22, 1820. When a boy, he worked on the farm and attended the district schools of his native town. At the age of seventeen, he went to Hartford, Conn., and entered the employ of Eggleston & Rowley, grocers on North Main Street. Later he was in the grocery business with his brother, William Drake.

Timothy Drake began to work for the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company when he was twenty-four years old, while their line from Hartford to Springfield was under construction. One of the overseers took a decided interest in him and advanced him as rapidly as possible. He learned the profession of Civil Engineer, which he followed up to the time of his retirement. His work and his inclination made him an extensive traveler, and he visited almost every state in the Union. After 1864, his home was in Hartford, either in hotels or boarding houses, until he built his own home on Asylum Avenue. He never married.

During the later years of his life, while relieved of active employment in his profession, Timothy Drake devoted a good deal of time to looking up the family history, and it is through his interest and generosity that this Genealogy was made possible. He remained "hale and hearty" until

Mr. Leon Henry Drake was a prominent man and had a long Civil War record. The following letter gives a glimpse of his career: "I enlisted as private in Company D, 13th Vermont Infantry, Sept. 6th, 1862. Was mustered out, July 21, 1863. Was in Pickett's charge at Gettysburg, Pa., July 3rd, 1863. The history of this battle will tell you what the 13th Vermont accomplished there. I went to Iowa in October, 1863, helped organize Company A, 47th Regiment, Iowa Infantry. Went as 1st Lieutenant, June 4th, 1864. Mustered out Sept. 28, 1864. Returned to Vermont in November, 1864. Was elected Captain of Company B, 8th Regiment, Vermont Militia, Dec. 31st, 1864. Have been in coal business, mining, oil, mercantile, cattle and sheep ranching in Montana. Have a large dairy farm two miles from Elmira that I have owned for nearly forty years, but never lived on it. At present I am a United States Pension Attorney and Claims Agent. My most active business is playing checkers and taking good care of my health. I have made a lot of money during my career—and lost a lot."

Leon Henry Drake died.

673. James Arthur Drake (Franklin N.[7], Elijah[6], Roger[5], Phineas[4], Simon[3], John[2], John[1]), born in Cohocton, N. Y., Oct. 20, 1854. His father was at that time engaged in the lumber business and later moved to Blossburg, Pa. When James was twelve years old, the family located in Corning, N. Y., where they have since resided.

Much of the commercial development of Steuben County, and of Corning is linked with the Drake family. The elder Mr. Drake was the founder of the First National Bank and Trust Company, and held the position of President until his death. He was president of the Tioga Railroad and was associated with the Erie Railroad.

James Arthur Drake has also been connected with the Erie Railroad in various capacities. He was educated in the public schools and at Corning Free Academy. Oct. 26, 1876, he married Isabel Townsend Walker, daughter of the late Honorable C. C. Walker, of Corning, at one time a member of the U. S. Congress.

James A. Drake was appointed County Clerk by Governor Hill in 1883, to fill the unexpired term of Gen. Jacob Lansing, and with characteristic generosity turned over the entire salary to Gen. Lansing's widow. His rule of life was always to help others. At his father's death, he became President of the First National Bank, which office he held until 1910. He was a Democrat and held the office of Sheriff. The family was affiliated with the Presbyterian Church, and that organization received a parsonage through the generosity of Franklin Drake.

James A. Drake's interests did not lead him into membership in lodges or societies but he was a charter member of the Corning Club.

James Arthur Drake died Jan. 26, 1926, leaving a widow and three daughters.

Has been of great assistance in compiling the record of his great-grandfather, Roger Drake's descendants. The whole family is worked out from information which he furnished.

Mr. Drake was an architect and practised in Buffalo, and in Tampa, Fla., where he went to recover from bronchial trouble. He reopened his office in Buffalo in 1909, and worked there until a nervous breakdown forced him to retire permanently.

He established a war garden on Canandaigua Lake, and later started raising gladioli. He describes his life as "fishing a little, sailing, rowing and swimming quite often, and entertaining over the summer vacations a few nieces and nephews whom he teaches to swim and dive, row and fish, to shoot bow and arrows, and to perform on a trapeze out under a big oak tree."

He married at Cohocton, N. Y., on May 10, 1887, Harriett Maria Wilcox who was born Aug. 5, 1866, in Cohocton, daughter of Adolphus Skinner and Sarah Jane (Houghtalling) Wilcox. She is a direct descendant of Stephen Hopkins, one of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence. Mr. and Mrs. Drake have no children.

He studied at the Law School and in 1858 was elected by the Democrats to represent the town of South Windsor in the State Legislature, his opponent in the Republican party was his father. He was admitted to the Bar, and began the practice of law in Hartford.

When War was declared, he was one of the first to enlist from Hartford, and was commissioned First Lieutenant in Company A, First Conn. Volunteers. He served with distinction in the Battle of Bull Run. He was subsequently appointed Lieutenant Colonel of the 10th Regiment, Conn. Volunteers, and was engaged in the Battle of Roanoke Island, as acting Colonel, and took part in the capture of Newbern. His health, which was already failing, suffered by the severe strain to which he was subjected, and he was obliged to return home on sick leave. The hope which he expressed of returning to his regiment was not realized, and he died of consumption, June 5, 1862.

As an officer he had the respect and affection of his men, and it was believed that if his life had been spared he would have gained national fame.

The Grand Army Post at Manchester, Conn., is named after him.

R. A friend induced him to buy 500 shares of Pennsylvania Rock Oil Co. In 1857, he moved to Titusville, Pa., and was employed to drill the first artesian well for oil. This was known as Drake's Well. It was begun in May and completed in August, 1859, with a depth of 834½ inches, and pumped for about a year, 20 to 30 barrels of oil a day. *Drake's foremost contribution to the oil industry was the use of pipe driven to bedrock to prevent the overburden of clay and quicksand from filling in the drill hole. He failed, however, to patent the idea.

The years after Mr. Drake left Titusville were burdened with financial difficulties. In 1873, the Legislature granted him a pension of $1,500 a year which he enjoyed until his
